

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

This document will be found in full in this week's DEMOCRAT, notwithstanding it was only delivered to Congress on Tuesday last. If the people of Preble county want the latest news, let them take the DEMOCRAT. In addition to this we present a synopsis of the report of the Secretary of War. Read them. Comment in our next.

The Cincinnati Music Hall is now declared to be a certainty.

One death from small-pox occurred in Jackson, O. Even with Eaton.

Gov. HAYES will be inaugurated on the 10th of January.

Springfield is to be made Grange headquarters for sixteen counties of Ohio.

Mansfield elected a Democratic Mayor by a majority of 731. Where is Brinkerhoff?

Kerr, of Indiana, Speaker; Adams, of Kentucky, Clerk, and John G. Thompson, of Ohio, for Sergeant at Arms, is the organization.

"Too much money" caused Mark Harper, Sheriff of Hamilton county, Ill., to commit suicide by shooting himself.

CHARLES AVERT, aged one hundred years, died at the Cincinnati Infirmary, on Wednesday of last week. No posterity no property.

Miss Maggie Braat, of Mattoon, Ill., got disappointed in love matters last week, took "cold pizen" and shuffled off. Foolish brat.

Times do not seem to be getting any better, and the time is up for coin to chink in the pockets of the people. "Nary chink!"

The Democratic majority in Mississippi foots up about 40,000. The colored voter seems to have lost all confidence in the "40 acres and a mule" theory.

A majority of the National Democratic Executive Committee have expressed themselves in favor of an early National Convention, and St. Louis the place of holding it.

Boss Tweed, the great Tammany thief and robber, escaped from prison on Saturday evening last, and up to the present writing, nothing of his whereabouts has been discovered.

Major J. A. Millikin, of Hamilton, wouldn't accept the vacancy of State Treasurer, tendered him by Gov. ALLEN, for the unexpected death of Isaac Welsh, who deceased, and a LEROY WELSH has accepted.

Miss MINHAM HANFORD, daughter of Rev. Thomas Hanford, of Hamilton, O., committed suicide by drowning herself on Friday of last week. No cause known for the act.

And now the use of the potato is pronounced as injurious to the human family as whisky, by a Mrs. LEW, who delivered a lecture on the subject at College Hill, last week. Next.

Where is that "honest money for honest toil," we were promised six weeks after Hayes' election. We haven't seen any of it, and we have been doing some honest toiling.

No gold or silver has yet jingled around the DEMOCRAT office on account of the election of Hayes as we were promised. Wonder if our neighbor of the Register has heard any yet? He seems to be calling lustily for the "rag babies" to come in.

The "spirits of unjust men" are playing the mischief with some of Grant's best friends. They are called "crooked" ones. If Babcock had taken his straight like the Boss, everything would have gone on forever.

The Presidential order is "let no guilty person escape," and now his confidential attendant Babcock has been shown up as the Washington agent of the St. Louis whisky ring. We will see whether he escapes or not, and we may also expect further interesting developments.

Mrs. Moulton has another "say" for the benefit of the Beecher business. She is raising a deal of a "racket," and it will no doubt be necessary for some one to squelch this persistent and reckless female, or the nastiness will again be bro't to the surface.

The News, published at Washington, C. H. Ohio, and heretofore an independent paper, will, in the future, be issued as a Democratic journal and be enlarged and otherwise improved. Glad of it. 'The more the merrier.'

In the opinion of Harper's Weekly the Republican National Convention next year will declare unequivocally for hard money. The greenback Republicans that still cling to the party on a forlorn hope, will please make a note of this.

ORGANIZE! ORGANIZE!

When united, there is no such word as "fail" in the Democratic vocabulary. It is only when we have bickerings and misunderstandings in our own ranks, that our political opponents pick up courage and make a desperate and sometimes successful fight. It is a scriptural truism that "a house divided against itself cannot stand." An army, to be successful, must be well organized and agree to unite as one man in an effort to accomplish the object in view—the defeat of the enemy. If they fail to do this, and go into battle in a disorganized condition, with jealousies and heart-burnings rankling in their own breasts, they will, nine times out of ten, fall an easy prey to an inferior but better disciplined enemy. No body of men, no party, can hope to be successful in the absence of union and harmony, and a firm and unyielding determination not to be conquered. Such being the case, how important it is that those who expect to fight against the present corrupt party in power, should think of these things and then act as becomes men and patriots. In less than one year from this time, we will be called upon to decide the important and momentous question of who shall govern us for the preceding four years—a question which is fraught with more than ordinary importance to the Laborer, Mechanic, Farmer and Manufacturer of the west. What Democrat or Liberal of Ohio, can calmly and quietly fold his arms in indifference in a contest like this? Let us all, fellow Democrats and Independent voters, consider well the consequences that will ensue, should we neglect or refuse to discharge our whole duty in the coming crisis. We have the power to prevent the wholesale robberies and corruptions that are disgracing the fair fame of our country and place it out of the control of the thieves and the Money Power, and if we fail to use it, we are equally responsible for the consequences that follow.

It is our duty, then, as Democrats, as Independents, as law-abiding citizens, who have the good of the people and the welfare of our country at heart, to cast from us all asperity of feeling, and at once determine upon effecting a "union of all good and honest men," opposed to robbery, corruption and the Money Power, rule, and in favor of REFORM. Let this be our motto—REFORM our watchword—and our word for it, our triumph in 1876 will be grand and glorious. But we must unite and ORGANIZE, and pull together, if we desire to achieve a victory that will forever wipe out the black stains left upon our nation by the fifteen years rule of Radicalism. We were not perfectly united and organized at the late election in our State, and of course defeat followed. This should admonish us to be more careful in the future; it should teach us a lesson. It should prompt us to think of these things and that it is time that efforts were making to effect a complete and thorough organization of the party, so that we may enter upon the contest with bright prospects and with "victory" inscribed upon our banners. The man calling himself a law-abiding and an American citizen, and who will not assist in displacing from power the vultures and cormorants that are preying upon our vitals—the Money Power that is slowly but surely winding its coils about us—is unworthy of his home. We care not what he calls himself—whether "hard money" or "soft money"—"green back" or gold—it is his duty to assist in organizing for a change in the administration of the affairs of our nation. Therefore, let us be up and doing. ORGANIZE in every School District and Township in the State, and our success is certain. "UNITED WE STAND—DIVIDED WE FALL."

The Lake Erie and Southwestern railway is to be finished to Huntingburg soon. The periodical news of work being commenced for its construction through Eaton and on to the Lakes, is out again, but we take no stock in it. When we see something more substantial than mere paper work, we will "stand and doubt no longer." Let'er come. In another column of our paper, we give a short article from the Evansville Journal, on the progress of this road, furnished us by our friend Judge HAYES, who is as sanguine that this road will be run through Eaton, as he is that Boss Grant takes his todily straight!

Mississippi, determined no doubt to be in style, is moving for a new constitution. She needs a better one than she has, badly, but it is subject to doubt whether she will make an improvement or not.

Over five thousand houses in Philadelphia have been registered as willing to take boarders during the Centennial. At this time there are more than five thousand persons employed in erecting the Centennial building.

The Indiana Farmer is an inflation paper. The editor cannot see that whoever may reap an incidental and temporary benefit from that wild gambling scheme, the farmer must certainly lose. The speculator and general man of business might find times livelier and opportunities for playing their trade greater; the manufacturer might raise the price of his wares to correspond with the price of other things, and the cost of production, but the farmer cannot do the same. The price of his products is regulated by the eternal laws of supply and demand, and cannot be tampered with, or artificially raised. Some farmers can remember that during the war when calico was sixty cents a yard, sugar thirty cents a pound, and many other things in proportion, wheat sold for $1.25, and corn at forty-five cents. There were lively times in those days, but farmers do not want to see them again.

The above we clip from the Dayton Democrat, one among the very few democratic journals in Ohio that is working in the interest of the New York Wall street bullionists, and against that of the industries and prosperity of the West. These papers all misrepresent the Democratic party upon this currency question, or what is equally as bad, withhold the facts from their readers. The Democrats are not inflationists in the sense in which the bondholders, bullionists and their subsidized journals represent them—they are not flooding the country with irredeemable paper money, but under the present condition of our finances, they are for having a paper circulation which provides for the public a sufficient guarantee to animate the trade and business of the country, issued directly by Congress, without the intervention of a monopoly of Bankers. They are for legal-tenders, bearing no interest, convertible into national bonds bearing a small rate of interest and receivable at the will of the people—the repeal of the National Bank Charter, and retiring of that currency and supplying its place by legal-tenders, and thus stimulating the industrial pursuits of the country and advancing the price of labor, until in process of time the purchasing capacity of a legal-tender dollar shall be equal to that of a gold dollar. True, as the Democrats say, the "price of products is regulated by the eternal laws of supply and demand," but back of this is demanded a healthy circulating medium, on terms within the reach of the people to stimulate labor and advance all industrial pursuits. This is Democracy as we understand it. We all can remember when greenbacks circulated freely, the farmer, mechanic, laborer and merchant prospered, the products of the country brought a good price, real estate advanced and all industrial pursuits flourished and prospered; but now, everything is on the decline, the value of land depreciated fully one-half, hundreds and thousands of laborers out of employment, and failures and suspensions occurring all over the country. What is the reason of this, if it be not that through the policy of Bankers legal-tenders are being retired and resumption staring us in the face in the near future? Who are profited by these stringent times? Is this Democratic (?) paper? Is the Farmer—the Laborer—the Mechanic or the Merchant? No; but the bondholders, bankers and dealers in money, are the only persons reaping the harvest of this specie resumption. This is plain to every man of common sense. Let the editor of the Dayton Democrat ask any farmer, whose mind is not warped and prejudiced by reading such stuff as is retailed by radical stump orators and subsidized specie advocating journals, if during the war, when money was more plenty and he received $15 per hundred for his pork; seventy-five and a dollar for corn; oats, rye, barley and all his farm products in proportion, and his land worth $100 per acre when it will not now bring $60, if "times were not more lively" and if he does not want to see them again? Nine out of every ten will answer in the affirmative, and it is all bosh and nonsense to undertake to argue otherwise under the pressure of the present hard times.

A society of Germans is organized in Sidney for the purpose of raising a fund to defray expenses on a trip to the old country. They have a constitution, by-laws, &c., and pay certain regular dues. They expect to go in 1877. The plan seems to be a good one.

BARNUM has quit the "show business," and has disposed of all his splendid wardrobe and fine stud of horses and cages of wild beasts. It is certain that Barnum contributed amusement to more people, during his brief career as a showman, than any other man that ever entered the business.

President Grant has evidently commenced war upon the Pape's toe in earnest and makes his opening attack through a Catholic judge in Arizona, whom he proposes to remove on account of his religion. Grant's own religious convictions are not remarkably strong, but this sudden earnestness and zeal is on account of politics rather than religion, the latter being a means to accomplish the end desired, and in political enterprises it is well-known that our President is scarcely rivaled.

Sources of Sanctification: Moody was a street-car driver and Sankey a whisky-gauger before entering into the business of saving souls.

SOMETHING PRACTICABLE.

There are many noticeable indications of the growth of a sounder and healthier thought on the temperance question. Those who believe that every evil by which society is afflicted can be cured by legislation, having put their favorite theories to the test without success are looking to different methods. Dr. S. G. Holland has, it seems to us, obtained some clear light on the subject of curing intemperance. In a letter to the Woman's National Temperance Association, which met at Cincinnati two weeks ago, he wrote:

"For the last 25 years I have watched with absorbing interest the various phases and stages of the temperance reform. I confess that I have not found much to encourage me, either in the results of personal reform, or in the outcome of prohibitory legislation. Drunkards are made faster than they can be mended, and the laws are neither executed nor respected. The only way, therefore, to cure drunkenness is to cease producing it. The only way to get rid of drunkards is to stop raising them. Here is where woman's true field of labor lies, with relation to this great work. The hope of the country is in its children, and the children are in the hands of women—women mainly in the home, women mainly in the school. I have mainly in the Sunday school. I have no great hope of your success as a society in influencing the legions of I should have no great hope of the results of legislation, even should you aid in securing it."

There is practicable, sound sense in this. It points to the way in which women can accomplish much more in rescuing young men from the vice of drunkenness than she can by joining in such movements as the crusades, by which, a year or two ago, little else was accomplished than the sacrifice of womanly modesty and the exciting of angry passions. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the vice of drunkenness is acquired in early youth, away from home. Parental neglect on the one hand, or an asceticism on the other, which renders the home gloomy and drives the young to seek amusement away from home influences, are among the things that sow the seeds of intemperance. In this, as in everything else, woman has her sphere, in which she can accomplish as much as man can accomplish in his.

COUNTERFEIT NOTES.

A large number of counterfeiters on the National Banks are now in circulation, and no one should take money without examining it carefully. The following is a list of those already detected: Fives on the First National Bank of Chicago; fives on the First National Bank of Paxton, Illinois; fives on the First National Bank of Peru, Indiana; fives and tens on the First National Bank of Richmond, Indiana; tens on First National Bank of Philadelphia; tens and fives on the First National Bank of Poughkeepsie, New York; fives on the First National Bank of Canton, Illinois; fives on the First National Bank of Aurora, Illinois.

While the Democratic party was in power it never levied one cent of direct tax for the support of the General Government, nor sent out swarms of tax-gatherers to spy out the land and eat up the substance of the people—Never! It never burdened the people with Internal Revenue tax and Government stamps, nor created two kinds of currency—gold for the bondholders and "rags" for the people—Never! It never issued two thousand millions of bonds exempt from taxation, and then made them payable in gold, that an untaxed aristocracy might live in luxury off the toil of honest labor, nor never favored a tariff that discriminated in favor of the rich man's luxuries and against the poor man's necessities of life—No, Never! Never!

The Radical contraction party, notwithstanding its apparent success at the late elections, achieved by the basest frauds upon the ballot-boxes, is staggering under the weight of its atrocities to the grave. It will have no future save in the remembrance of the people to be annihilated. Its infancy will be historic and its wickedness alone immortal. No pen will be mean enough to write its epitaph. It arose upon the calamities of the country; it rigned amid devastation and wide-spread ruin; it flourished when liberty was throttled and it will perish amid the exultations of a rescued people.

Robert Schuchman has been finally exposed in regard to his connection with the Emma mine swindle in a manner that leaves no doubt of his guilt, and for the credit of our government, which credit has already suffered through him, he should be recalled at once. The picture of a Minister from one great nation to another, allowing his name to be used for the swindling of other people, and for which he is well paid, is a picture that causes every true American to blush with shame and indignation. Let the poker player be recalled at once, and immediately be consigned to private life or devote the remainder of his days to the advancement of his favorite game.

Deacon West and Mrs. Moulton are stirring up the animals in Henry Ward Beecher's Brooklyn Hippodrome. We say, let the "show" go on.

TOO MUCH MONEY!

Covington, Ky., Nov. 27.—It falls to our lot to record another big brewery failure. A steel of assignment from Henry Niemeyer, jun., to H. P. Whitaker was lodged for record in the County Clerk's office yesterday.

New York, Nov. 26.—The Manufacturers' and Builders' Bank, at Third Avenue and Fifty-seventh St., suspended this morning. The excitement among the depositors is in tense.

There was a run on the People's Savings Bank, Third Avenue, this morning and the officers closed the doors, taking advantage of the sixty days' notice. This bank was affected, with others, by the run on the Third Avenue Savings Bank a short time ago. There was also a slight run to-day on the Security Savings Bank.

The Central Park Savings Bank, a comparatively small institution, is to be wound up by the State Superintendent, at the request of its President.

New York, Dec. 1.—R. & P. Lawrence, heavy stationers in Maiden Lane, announce to their creditors their inability to continue their payments. They promise a prompt statement of their affairs when a meeting of creditors will be called.

New Orleans, Dec. 1.—The Bank of America has suspended. The Board of Directors resolved to cease operations and put the bank into liquidation at once.

New York, Dec. 1.—The failure of John Thompson & Co., No. 441 Broadway, and No. 15 Mercer street, hair and fancy goods, is announced.

Mr. VERNON, Nov. 29.—Several business men and farmers hereabouts have made assignments recently.

New York, Dec. 2.—The failure of B. & P. Lawrence, stationers, Maiden Lane, is likely to be a heavy one, though much of the indebtedness is to foreign houses. The liabilities of Abraham Bogardus, photographer, whose failure is announced, are estimated at $35,000. He claims if his creditors will allow him time he will pay in full.

Up in Wisconsin the Prohibitionists practice what they preach. They made a State ticket and voted it. This action on the part of the Prohibitionists called down upon them some severe criticisms from the Republican press. Here is one from the Dodge County Citizen:

"The fanatics who foisted a Prohibition ticket on the people of this State have the satisfaction of knowing that they have not only insulted the Republican party, through whose agency all political temperance measures have been fostered, but probably enough votes were cast for the Prohibition ticket to defeat the Republican candidate for Secretary of State, as at least nine out of ten who voted said ticket were Republicans."

The Ripon Free Press, a Prohibition organ takes up the matter from a pure standpoint and slashes those organs like the Citizen after this manner:

"What a record of robbery, of corruption, drunkenness, and debauchery! It has taken one-half of the party to investigate and vindicate the other half. The d-d Dutch might have been right after all."

We hope that the Hon. JOHN A. McMANUS, our Congressman, will not resign his position on account of the "heavy jolts" the third term Dayton editor of the Ea on Register is heaving at him! They are very crushing—fearfully so! If it wasn't for John's "nerve," we would despair!

The National Grange at its recent session in Louisville, recommended the employment of lecturers, whose duty it will be to canvass the country and enlighten the people as to the true objects and intentions of the Grange. There can be no doubt but such a plan, well carried out, would result in great good to the order.

That Madison, Ind. man that attempted to eat thirty quails in thirty days succeeded, and won the wager. The task seems very easy, but those that have tried it say it is very hard, few being able to go more than twenty birds, after which the sight almost produces vomiting, and in some cases further eating is impossible.

Rev. R. Kraus, a minister over at St. Marys has been in the habit of going to a "bad house" Sunday evenings after his sermon, and remaining until morning. He was found out and brought before the church. He owned up, but requested that he might be allowed to preach his year out! Modest man!

The "crooked whisky" conspirators are all coming to grief, or rather the penitentiary. Joyce and McDonald are in the penitentiary, and Babcock, private Secretary of the President, will soon be. These scoundrels deserve worse punishment. We want to see all these robbers placed in positions where they cannot rob the people in the name of "loyalty."

The Chicago Tribune demands the recall of General Schenck, from England. It claims that he has disgraced the American Government, and that in his connection with the Emma Mine, while acting as the American representative at a great court, he had exceeded his prerogative by permitting the use of his name to promote a speculative scheme.

THE LAKE ERIE ROAD.

The City Council last night unanimously approved and ratified the contract entered into by the Trustees of the city bonds and the Lake Erie, Evansville and Southwestern Railway Company. The details of the contract, as well as the action of the Council with reference to it, will be found in the city news columns. The Railroad Company is to grade, and otherwise prepare the road for the iron, from Boonville to Huntsgburg by the first of next September, in consideration of which the Trustees are to furnish to the Company in iron, of a specified weight and quality, and at the current price, the proceeds of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars city bonds, rated at eighty cents to the dollar. This iron is to remain the property of the city until it is spiked upon the road bed previously prepared for it between the two towns. The Trustees seem to have carefully guarded the interests of the city, and at the same time manifested a great desire to aid the road in such manner as would secure to completion to the block coal fields of Dubois and Spencer Counties. At Huntingburg the road will probably join the Louisville, New Albany and St. Louis Air Line, and the Cincinnati, Rockport and Southwestern Roads.

Evansville Journal, Dec. 3.

As the third-term business is becoming pretty lively, it may be interesting to give Grant's letter on the subject, published some months ago. It will be found to read about as follows: "I am not, nor have I ever been, a candidate for re-nomination. I would not accept a nomination if it were tendered, unless it should come under such circumstances as to make it an imperative duty—circumstances not likely to arise."

The most significant evidence that Grant is the inevitable Republican candidate for the Presidency next year, is found in the fact that no other candidate dare assert himself for the position, nor have the friends of any other. The opposition to Grant is slight, and he will go into the Convention with enormous power. The opposition to every other candidate is bitter and malignant, and no other man will enter the Convention with any but a local force behind him. He is doubtless the strongest man before the people the Republicans can nominate.

A SMALL POX REMEDY. A correspondent of the Stockton, (California) Herald, writes as follows: "I herewith append a recipe which has been used to my knowledge in hundreds of cases. It will prevent or cure the small-pox, though the pittings are filling. When Jenner discovered cow-pox in England the world of science hurled an avalanche of fame upon his head; but when the most scientific school of medicine in the world—that of Paris—published this recipe as a panacea for small-pox, it passed unheeded. It is as unfailing as fate, and conquers in every instance. It is harmless when taken by a well person. It will also cure scarlet fever. Here is the recipe as I have used it, and cured my children of scarlet fever; here it is as I have used it to cure the small-pox, when learned physicians said the patient must die. It cures! Sulphate of zinc, one grain; fox-glove (digitalis), one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar; mix with two tablespoonfuls of water. When thoroughly mixed add four ounces of water. Take a spoonful every hour. Either disease will disappear in twelve hours. For a child smaller doses according to age. If counties would compel their physicians to use this there would be no need of pest houses. If you value service and experience, use this for that terrible disease."

FARM FOR SALE.

I will offer at private sale my farm of 163 ACRES.

The land is in a good state of cultivation, good improvements, and situated in Gratiot township, Preble county, O., one mile south-east of Winchester. Price, $6,500—$4,000 cash, $1,000 in one year, and the balance in five years; $500 a year without interest. For further particulars address the undersigned at Gratiot, P. O., Preble county, O. F. MICHAELE.

Eaton, Dec. 2, 1875.

Strayed. Estrayed from the pasture of J. T. Deem, near Eaton, on Saturday, the 20th inst., one Bay Gelding, 16 hands high, near front and off hind foot white, no shoes or halter on, and tail plaited up.

Also, one Brown or Dark Bay Mare, about 15 hands high. Any information concerning these horses will be thankfully received and rewarded by J. T. DEEM.

HAIR RENEWER. This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effective or desirable. A. A. HAYES, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the Best Preparation for its intended purposes."
